Sophomores:
Career Exploration class:
After three Myers-Briggs Type Indicator feedback sessions, students should have an understanding about what careers may suit them given their personality, and more importantly, how to effectively seek out information on careers. Students have been given a 10-page career report that they can keep and share with their families. Additionally, they are activating their accounts in SCOIR, an online platform that will allow them to research college information, and eventually will be used in their college application process. Students were encouraged to use their summers wisely, getting involved in camps, classes, and activities surrounding their interests, and also to volunteer. During the final class week, students learned how to better manage stress and anxiety with specific breathing and relaxation techniques with our visiting anxiety specialist Heidi Weiker, MSSA.

Juniors:
College Planning class:
Juniors have now completed the College Planning course. In addition to exploring careers, researching colleges, and creating resumés, each junior has also created a Common Application account and should continue independently working on his application. Students must ask teachers for recommendations before the end of the school year and should begin thinking about their college essays. Over the summer, juniors are encouraged to visit college campuses that are open for tours and follow the monthly college planning timeline outlined in their “Career Exploration and College Planning” iBook. Don’t forget to utilize Scoir!

Many colleges plan to maintain their test-optional policies. Juniors are still strongly encouraged to take the SAT and/or ACT. They are responsible for registering for tests themselves.

SAT/College Board

ACT

There are several options for standardized test prep on our Guidance website: College and Career Resources: SAT/ACT test prep. (Reminder: your son has access to free online SAT prep through the Khan Academy from taking the PSAT this past October.)

In the near future, we will publish more information for parents on how to navigate Scoir and for students on how to complete your Common Application.

Seniors:
We proudly list the colleges and universities our seniors have been accepted to: Class of 2022 College Acceptances.

Please continue to bring in your accepted admissions decision and scholarship award letters to Guidance. This information is relevant for graduation and the senior awards assembly. The majority of seniors have received their graduation tickets from Ms. Stokes. If you have not yet done so, please bring all acceptance letters and scholarship information with a completed senior college questionnaire to the guidance office.

May 1 is the National Candidate’s Reply Date. Seniors should place a deposit with their chosen college or university. If families need more time, please contact the undergraduate admissions office to request an extension. We congratulate all of you and share in your excitement as you go forth to set the world on fire!
